Weather event in Henrico

Yesterday a strong storm blew into the central part of Henrico. Below is a recap on events and ongoing items:

- ✓ NWS has confirmed the storm was an actual tornado
- ✓ Henrico Fire will be in the area today along with Building officials to take a more focused assessment of the damaged structures.
- ✓ No other reports of damage during the night, we are checking an area in the Western district of the County that sustained weather damage also.
- ✓ At this point 63 homes have been confirmed with damage of some sort, 3 are uninhabitable.
- ✓ Red Cross assisted one family with sheltering last night
- ✓ A phone hotline had been established for residents to call in and ask any storm related questions.

I will continue to update as information is made available.
